

As it stands I do not answer any incoming call due to the large number of tele-marketing calls I receive. I would be nice to regain control of my phone line. Just as with junk mail, I do not think the tele-marketing companies would be too happy if consumers could bounce back their phone calls and tie up their phone lines. At the moment I am awaiting the start of my state no call service. Hopefully it will stop the madness.